The South Fulton Arrow Youth Council invites you to discover an incredible opportunity, one that involves scholarship, workforce development, challenge-based learning and 21st century learning skills. In an elite work force leadership summer experience we ignite the leader within to evolve their thinking, emerge into leadership positioning and engage their talents to impact our world in a positive and legacy driven fashion. We call this the E(3) Strategy.

We imagine the world we produce, not the one we consume. Through strategic foresight training and developing the ability to forecast, this summer experience enables each student to become design thinkers. Our award-winning summer program prepares young leaders to commercialize their ideas and articulate the future they want. In a meta lab environment, we train young people to address societal issues and solve problems through the lens of exploration, project- based service learning and mentorship from corporate professionals and community leaders. Through daily instruction and lots of fun each attendee will be inspired to target their potential with passion.

Participating teens will gain new perspectives on their own ability to meet the challenges for this moment and discover their unique capability to effect their own quality of life and secure a prosperous future. This is how our young influencers will build up the socio-economic bottom line and positively impact our society through our Black Wall Street 2.0 campaign.

As stated by one of our Arrow alumni, "I don't want to just make a living...I want to make a life!" That young leader is now an author of three books, entrepreneur and is slated to excel in military service. His name is Austin Jackson. He has become a leader for this moment...the leader he was created to be.
